FOREWORD

The staff of the 1944 Yearbook is proud to have the opportunity in the special section that closes the book to give at least a partial representation of the distinguished record of its alumni in the service of the country. Other sections of the book attempt to show how the school has cooperated with the community in the war effort.

In the Service Flag of Evanston Township High School are many blue stars. Part of the vigor and endurance, the alert brain and quick action, of the American Fighting Man, was developed here. Evanston is proud of these blue stars.

There are gold stars also. Occasionally a blue star must be taken down and replaced with a gold one. To those alumni and former classmates who have graduated cum laude from the grim school of conflict, this Yearbook is reverently dedicated.

YEARBOOK

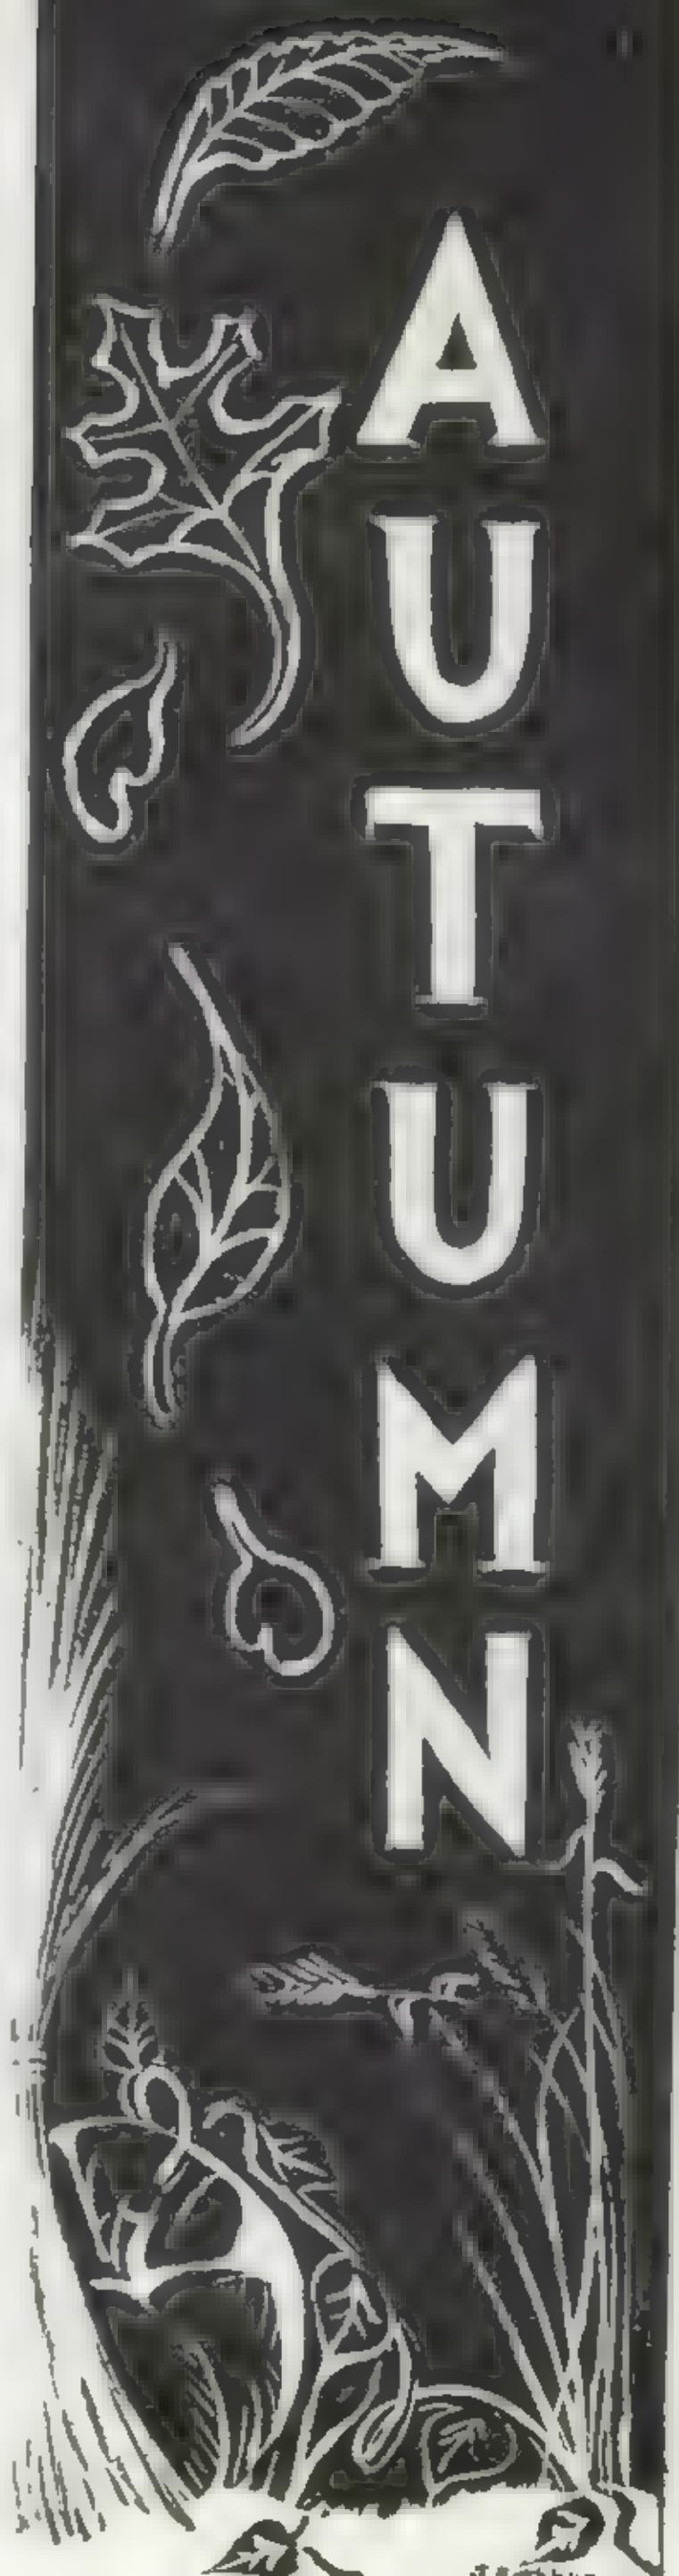

Art me priorities made it doubtful, at first whether there would be a Yearbook. Though Charles Robertson and his business staff had almost finished their senior collections and Marilyn Mortensen was coordinating the plans for a Yearbook of which production was still highly uncertain not until February did things start to hum with assurance in room 147 Joan Dreyfus racked everyone's brain, including her own, for the literary copy. Nelson Shawn photographed everything from the Christmas Festival to the Girls' Drill Corps. The art staff, headed by Betty Jayne Harbert, drew everything but the contracts which were left to Miss Dorothy Colburn, faculty adviser.

In September when classes met again after a long summer in which school cares were no longer forgotten the first days were long and strange. But by the second week the Victory Corps committee was in full duty again planning the activities of a successful and patriotic season. The Girls' Dr. Corps, the Military Training Corps, the regular Wednesdays war stamp sales, the rummy as drives and other wartime activities functioned but, again.

All senior girls prepared for the future by taking the Red Cross Home Nursing course which some especially Dr. Corps members helped bandages and made sterilized dressings every afternoon.

For recreation and enjoyment there were track meets and baseball games in winter and sports to enjoy in the crisp days of summer. Then there were AA and Saddle Club dances to attend the Hornet Formal and Pentangle Turnabout to swim and play at. Two school sponsored dance brought a new high in dramatics with well worked out songs and dance numbers first by Pentangle members and later by Quadrangle boys. The drama department put on two one hour plays including an original one by a member of the graduating class. This play took its place in history as a welcome although a salutary welcome to the Class of '47.

Two yearly activities not to be ignored were the magazine drive the biggest ever and the budget ticket sales which initiated freshmen to the outer mind of E.T.H.S.

FINANCIERS

Not content with merely edging out the other high schools in the country ETHS went $150 beyond its closest competitor in the magazine campaign. The total was $34,771.40 over $1000 more than in the preceding year. The top salesmen for 1943 were William Harwood and Jane Young.

The greatest purchase in the world was the sofa hung out by Bruce Galloway this year's budget manager. Said Bruce. "The sales have surpassed last year's by ten percent and they are still going strong. You know the Yearbook is absolutely free if you hold a budget ticket."

QUADRANGLE

Quadrangle's activities were directed by a board consisting of Dickard Ferguson, president; James O'Brien, vice president; Otis Green, second vice-president; James Roger, corresponding secretary; and Fred Hanner, treasurer. The boys with the armbands did hall-guards and such room duty. Besides the executive, Quadrangle supported drives such as the U.C. book drive,饥荒和救济日, sponsored intramural sports, and refereed at intramural games.

The Harvest Informal and Dads' Night, an evening event to award athletic letters, highlighted Quadrangle's social program.

PENTANGLE

In addition to the regular work of the committee, Pentangle has carried on war activities through the war collectors committee where drives for bottle caps and hamper directed by Donna Aleshire were successful.

Nancy Strader, president, Sue Cottin, vice-president, Harriet Barker, secretary and Betty Carlberg, treasurer directed the year's activities.

FOOTBALL

The 1942 football squad was a potentially great suburban league team. A difference of one point in each of two games would have meant a co-championship. The difference of one touchdown and two extra points would have meant an undefeated season. From the squad of ninety-five that reported for pre-season practice came a team that showed its power by smashing Senn 26-6. A week after this team had a chance to show its grand heart by coming from behind in the second half to defeat Waukegan 13-7. Next came a breather with Waukegan 53-0. But the following Saturday Evanston lost to a fine Prevo team 7-8 by a safety. The game with Oak Park was a smashing hard game. Evanston led at the half 6-0 but to Oak Park's traditionally great second half team lost 6-14. Apparently put on the skids by these two defeats Evanston was losing to Maine 17-13 at the half but came back in the second half to win 20-7. Hoping to avenge last year's loss the team was keyed up to defeat Morton. But a super abundance of fifteen yard penalties and a tough team beat them in the most heartbreaking game of the season 17-13. Indicative of the truly great qualities of the team that could come back after three losses to defeat its old friend from the north New Trier, 13-0. A disappointing season but a truly great team.

Climb aboard

Mr. Retzschke head coach worked primarily with the backfield while Mr. Connor coached the line. The regulars, who include several "sixty minute men" were the co-captains Dick Jones center and Erv Hauf fullback, Bud Lemon and Jim Parseghian, guards Jim Horne and Bob Black, tackles Corky Johnson and Rudy Rice, two junior ends, Dick Snyder and Dave de Swarte at the halves and Cicero Benington quarter back. Senior reserves were Russ Aagaard, Sam Adams, Tom Boswell, Fred Harker, Art Herpoelsterer, Bill Haefke, Jerry Jones, Bill Ward, Ed Ziemet and Harold Schulz. Of the regulars, Er. Hauf was chosen all suburban fullback and Dick Jones, Jim Horne, Bob Black, Bud Lemon and Dick Snyder received honorable mention.

Next years co-captains Buck Chaney, who alternated with Benington, and Corky Johnson headed a promising group of juniors Rice, Seymour, Smith, Freeman, Laddie Helm, Francis, Shedd and Brumbaugh.

At the very cold time we were trying out the practice team, scantily-clad cross country men braved the wintry winds to run their "two-mile-plus" race. An outstanding distance runner was found in Elliott Westbrook, who won first in all but two meets. In the big invitational meet at Proviso, in which the team finished sixth out of twelve runners, Westbrook won a second. Other good men who placed in the meets were Art Murray, Leon Miles, Cliff Merry, Al Perry, and Don Joyce. Mr. Schultz was the cross country coach. In the season's record, which follows, low score wins.

In conjunction with its war program G.A.A. has carried on an extensive physical fitness schedule. After school sports have afforded good recreation and exercise for the participants: speedball and hockey in the fall, badminton, bowling and basketball in the winter, soccer, archery and softball in the spring. In addition to these activities junior and senior leaders have continued to help the physical education teachers in their classes, and also to collect the tin cans from the cafeteria.

At the party on March 14 the 1944-5 board took over the chair. Dorothy French, president; Mary Davis, vice-president; Betty Ear Harper, secretary; Marilyn Meyer, publicity.

At 8:00 a.m. in a cold, dark, and silent hall, An exceptionally large audience heard the student in the Student Auditorium speak his mind. The drama department presented "One Day in the Major's Life" in the MTC hall. Despite a weather the MTC hall is regular morning through.

With the approach of Christmas vacation E.T. H.S. students eat a helping hand to Evanston merchants to relieve pressure during the holiday rush. Some worked part time and some took full time jobs in department stores. In addition some students went to work in war plants and a few continued their job after the New Year.

Under the auspices of the Army and Navy the school directed test for A5 V5 V12 A12. These examinations were given at regular intervals during the year. Many boys who took the test have been accepted.

The music department presented its usual gift to Evanston in its Christmas concert. The chorus sang both modern and traditional songs and the audience joined in singing the well known carols. On Christmas Eve many members of the chorus assembled at Fountain Square to sing carols.

After the opening and numerous shortages have curtailed many of the other activities of the year, but the drama department under the leadership of Mr. Howard Johnson continues to delight the student with its varied productions.

The year's major production, Ferber and Kaufman's "Stage Door," presented a cast of thirty-two to sell-out audiences February 11 and 12 in social hall. Cast and crews carried on despite a blizzard during the opening night which forced the cancellation of the second, that Uncle Sam would require the services of the director.

Other plays put on by the department have included "Gold Mines" [sic] by Lester, an original one act by Marvin Mortenson showing the hardships of a freshman on her first day in school; "The Wedding", "Who Gets the Car Tonight?" and "A Night at an Inn", the exciting story of a band of thieves.

MILITARY TRAINING CORPS

Over three hundred strong the cadets have marched through the year under the command of Col. Richard Julian. A crack drill platoon, the Corps Kite, selected from over a hundred cadets, volunteered to drill others. Trained by Lt. Col. James Jensen, it has joined the Coast Guard.

Lt. Col. Hugh Albers, Major William Bissell, Major Richard Contrell and Lt. Richard Cavanaugh, veteran marksmen, helped the rifle team capture the Midwest championship for the third successive year. Sgt. Amos Mathews was high man.

The jingle of spurs and the swish of formals proclaimed the Corps for. Directed by Capt. James Clegg, this traditional dance reached its apex when Staff Sgt. Amos Mathews led the underclassmen through the sabre arch formed by seniors.

The Folk Drill Corps, formed last year, took on the added responsibility of war work. The girls, in a bandage for the Red Cross, kept them busy. They produced a Victory Drill team directed by Major Irene Denton, commander.

Pentangle's important meetings of the year were the faculty and the fashion show and the joint Pentangle Trireme meeting at which Mrs. Hobart, who had recently returned from Japan aboard the 'Grosvenor', described her life in Japan as an enemy alien and her return trip aboard the exchange ship.

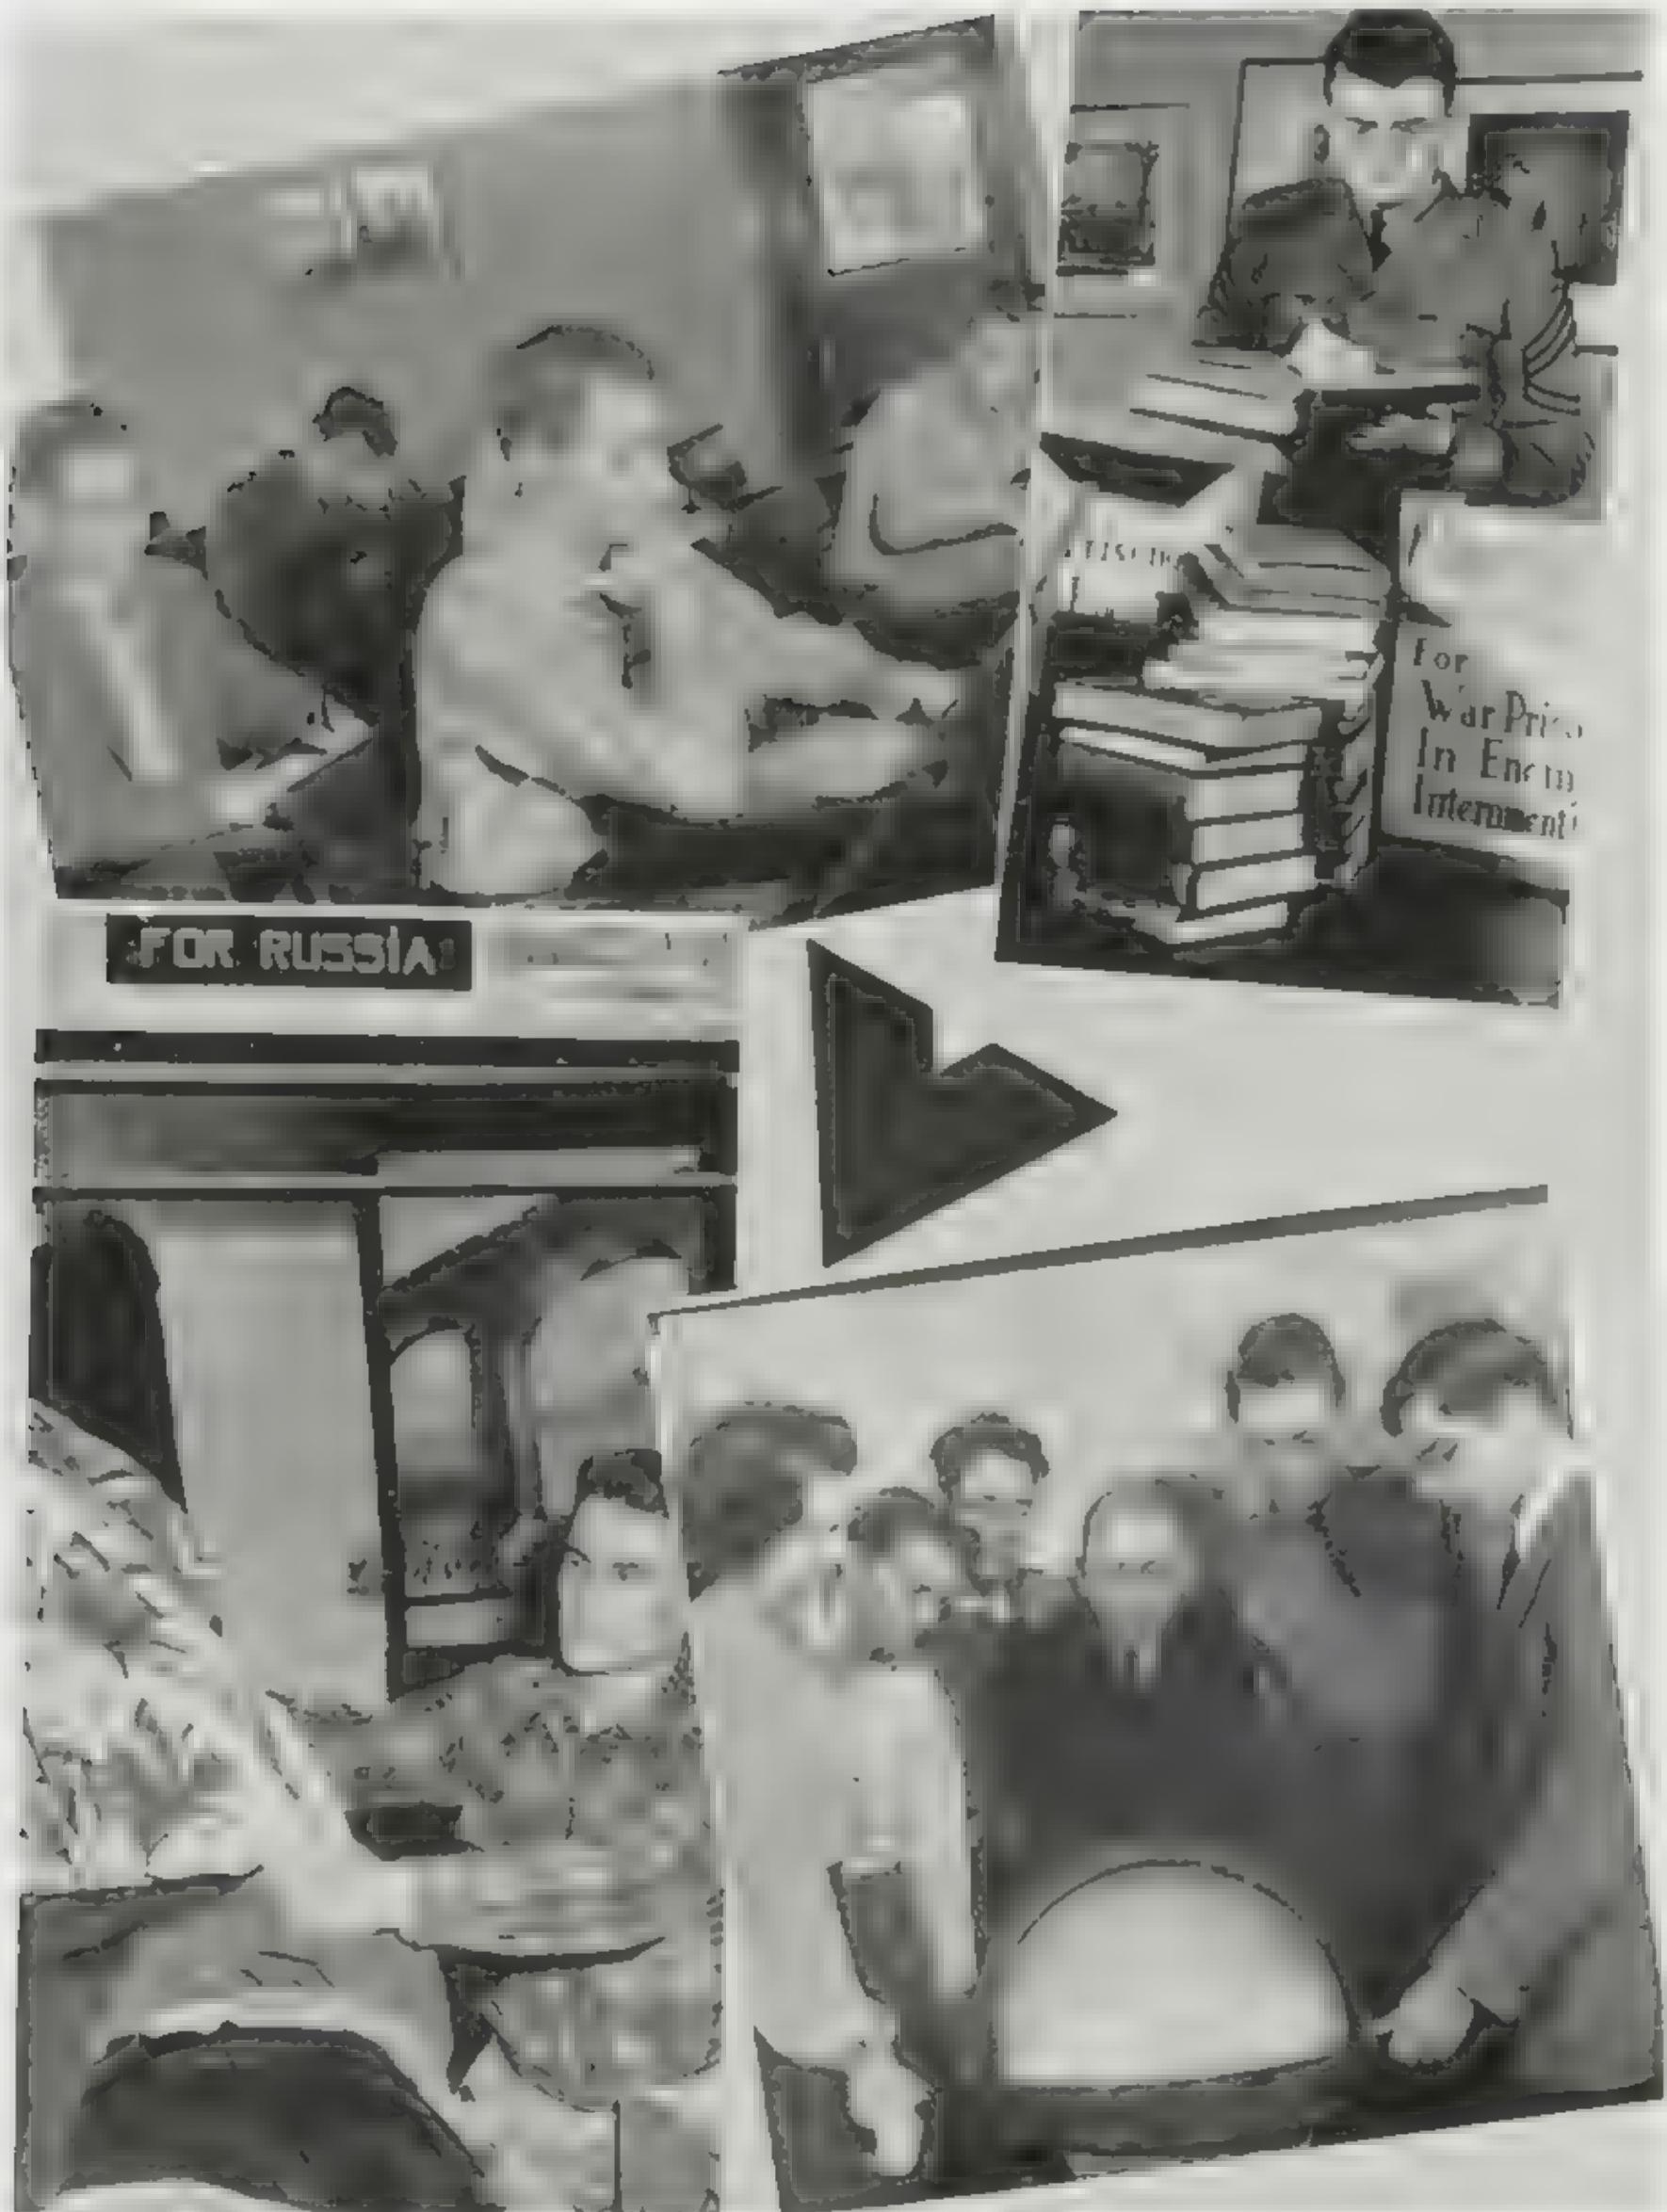

Holly wreaths, artificial snow, gaily decked trees, pine boughs, and black board masterpieces of Good St. Nick ushered in the Christmas season. The annual music festival, with both traditional and modern songs, lifted the spirits of all who attended. The chorus, garbed in bright colors, presented a cheery picture. The season reached a climax at the all school assembly the Friday before vacation. A Navy chaplain spoke and the chorus presented selections from "The Messiah."

The Suburban League basketball season was phenomenally close, characterized by many one and two point decisions. Proviso, the champions, won four consecutive games by a single point. Evanston, finishing second with three losses in ten games, handed Proviso its only defeat in League competition. Regulars were Orchie Benington, Jim Rogers, Sam Adams, Bill Hart, Dick Snyder, Carl Wren and two juniors, Fritz Smith and Corky Johnson. The reserves were Don Arries, Harold Schulz, Gene Bruskovitz, Dave Shedd and Connie Emers. The coaches were Rocky Hampton and Floyd Wilson.

Bill Heyner, the outstanding free styler, won a photo-finish record in the state. The other competing seniors were Harold Westerburg, Paul Cook, Bill Needier, Bob Hershberger and Bud Johnson. Dudley Harred was the senior diver and Bill Perkowitz the junior. The outstanding juniors were Menary Burlngame, Amstutz, Jones, Kellog, Browning, Bronson, and Holloway.

The first sign of Spring at ETHS is the appearance of the horticulture students in the yard, dragging their tools and things to the small pool there. Then the biology teachers begin shepherding their distractingly attractive students around the lawn, where they peer at leaves and furtively look for signs telling species of any tree not an oak. Indoors, pupils catch the spring fever (particularly common as in May) daze at the sun-drenched cafeteria, treat 'y and so intentively that they almost forget to watch the clock.

Spring sports are popular. After school, the girls may be seen on their knees near the archery range, searching for lost arrows, and others start calling attention to good shots and hurrying out to look for arrows that hit the wrong target. The Saddle Club again rides the trail through the woods, or horses more lively than in winter. Bicycles begin, and the obstacle course hardens muscles.

It is also in spring that the music students begin to buckle down to the task of learning various songs for the annual Spring Festival. Not only do they undertake to sing tricky American numbers, but also foreign language pieces. This year, in accordance with the United Nations theme, they presented a Russian repertoire. Immediately following rehearsals began for the operetta "In the Nowhere in ETHS was there a busier and more spirited atmosphere than prevailed in the music department. Under the guidance of Miss Sadie Kafferty, Miss Clare Vander Griend, and Miss Ruby Shaw, the special chorus groups including the A Cappella Choir, Mastersingers, Girls' Choir, and Madrigals maintained their high standards in a number of public appearances.

The symphony orchestra, directed by Mr. Traugott Rohner, and the band under the new leadership of Mr. Fred A. Krueger, played at all school assemblies besides presenting their annual fall and June concerts.

The first combined performance of the chorus and orchestra this year took place at St. Luke's church where various selections from "The Messiah" were presented for the third year in succession. The Christmas Festival was highlighted by such selections as Irving Berlin's "Annie Christmas", and Dave Rose's "Holiday for Sinner". A three piano number featuring Miss Hadasah McGilton, Miss VanderGrend, and Miss Shaw and the Male Festival Chorus were but two of the many specialties presented at the annual Spring Festival, which in accordance with tradition was a stirring success.

The "Evanstonian" has few peers among high school newspapers. The eight page paper is edited by students under the direction of Mr. Verhurst, faculty adviser. Robert Harvey, editor in chief, Mitchell Campbell, and David Howlett first and second assistants head the numerous editors, including Gloria Schabes, copy desk; Dorrie Shearer, news desk; John Randall, feature, and Helen Brooks, interview. Harry Jackson was advertising manager. Though the Pacemaker award had not been announced before the Yearbook went to press, the newspaper staff and editors held high hopes for its attainment.

Seniors this year will never look on a year of seriousness and fun that will live in their memories for a long time. Forty four was the year of hazing and glorious news from America, battle trench of heated politics of the smirking Russian drives into the Ukraine.

Forty four was also the last year of hope and fun for many seniors. They will remember the grand march at the Corp Ball and the beauty of the Turnabout as well as football games at which they yelled wildly, especially the excitement of the last half of the New Trier game. They will remember the great debate over the class and the hot-dog wagen man on the corner, the crowding at the bus stop. For these are the little things that mean ETHS to them. The seniors will recall the snow shrouded memorials trees on the lawn, the haze that closes in the school on an autumn morning, the rain that makes the ground along the diagonal walk pladders of mud and the sudden greenness of spring.

They will also remember the ever increasing momentum of wartime activities during their last high school year. The fulfillment of their many responsibilities was due to the realization of senior that this war was as much theirs as it was their elders.

Seniors took the lead in club and managed successful dances and other entertainments. The project of the senior class was the annual Faculty Dance which honored many seniors who taught for ETHS on the continent. Senior boys left during the year for the services for accelerated college programs and for work in war industries.

Yes, this is a year that will long be remembered by the class of 1944.

When the United States entered the war the War Activities Commission was formed to investigate how the school could help in the war effort and to head any activities that might be undertaken. Later the War Activities Commission was incorporated into the Victory Corps, a national organization started by the government.

The Victory Corps acts as a clearing house for the school's war activities and has organizations to sponsor each new undertaking. Instead of having a board with several members the Victory Corps chooses a director as its head. Each activity as it is taken up has its own special head. Miss Martha Gray is the faculty sponsor. In its first year Dick Shook was chosen student director. Then came Stan Hamilton and this year David de Swarte Mitchell Campbell is the Victory Corps secretary.

Most of the organizations in the school had some part in the Victory Corps program the first year. This year it has become even more active. Special subdivisions and sea, air, home front and general were created and organized for each division. Two thousand four hundred forty seven students enrolled.

Quadrangle, Pentangle and Trireme have taken their part in the Victory program. A coat-ranger drive by Trireme and Pentangle netted two hundred dozer coat-rangers for sailors at Navy Pier. At Christmas the girls filled two hundred stockings for the DAR girls of Bunker Hill America to present to boys at Fort Sherman. The clubs have been making bandages for Evanston Hospital and scrap book for soldiers. Trireme girls have kept the school's list of men in service as nearly up to date as possible. Quadrangle has provided the Junior Air Raid Wardens helped in various scrap drives and sponsored book drives.

The Girls Athletic Association assisted in last year's book drive and this year has been collecting tin cans. The Central Council has appropriated funds for various war activities. A drive sponsored by sophomore and junior presidents brought three thousand six hundred garments for Russian Relief.

A special physical fitness program was adopted in the middle of the '42-43 school year. Under the new plan, physical education classes meet every day and much attention is given to correcting remediable defects. Conditioning for boys and victory-gym for girls have received special emphasis. Girls have first-aid classes. Tuberculosis tests and dental examinations continued in conjunction with this program. A gym show was given this year, with a large part of the school participating.

Both the Army and the Navy have given tests here at regular six-month intervals for the A-5 and V-5, A-12 and V-12 divisions. As a result, many E.T.H.S. boys are getting a chance at specialized training which they might not otherwise have had. The grades of E.T.H.S. boys were well above average and a large percentage of the applicants have been accepted.

Last year the Junior Red Cross collected a special war fund of more than four hundred dollars. Workers sent games to the Chicago Marine Hospital for Christmas, menu covers made by the art classes, and several shipments of magazines to hospitals. This year the Red Cross has been making scrap books for soldiers, making dressings, and rolling bandages.

The War Chest almost quadrupled its collections—$120 last year and $456 this year.

The Girls' Drill Corps was organized in March, 1943. Under the instruction of the M.T.C. it became sufficiently well drilled to represent the school in the Memorial Day parade. This year it has been independent of the M.T.C., doing its own drilling. It grew from last year's hundred and forty-eight members to a hundred and seventy-five this year. Major Jane Denham is the commanding officer and Miss Irene Harshbarger is the faculty sponsor. The members drilled twice a week in warm weather, once a week in cold weather, and met once a week to do war work such as rolling bandages, making scrapbooks, and filling Christmas stockings for soldiers.

Junior Air Raid Wardens were organized to supplement the senior warden system. Robert Hausheer succeeded Hawley Smith this year as director. The junior wardens are useful as messengers in the Air Raid Warden system and are trained to take over when senior wardens are not present. They have also been active in various scrap and war relief drives.

War stamps are a big part of the school's war effort. Last year $38,000 worth of stamps and bonds were sold. In May the school received the treasury flag for more than ninety percent participation. Sales this year have been even better. In the first semester $34,000 worth of stamps and bonds were sold, and before spring vacation the figure had passed $60,000. The first $45,000 was used to buy a tank. After that, each $15,000 went for a Fairchild "Cornell" trainer (PT-19B). Stamp and bond sales have consistently held to more than $1,000 a week. The average weekly purchase per student has been sixty seven cents

Evanston students are trying to do their part as well as Evanston alumni are doing theirs

AMONG THOSE CITED

John Johnstone, '35, now serving overseas with a unit of amphibious engineers, was awarded the Legion of Merit by Gen. Eisenhower for his work in connection with the supplying and equipping of units in the Italian and Sicilian campaigns. He entered the Army in 1940 with the rank of technical sergeant, when the National Guard was called into service, and was stationed at Camp Forrest, Tenn., for many months.

Lt. Richard E. Hochschild, '40, formerly reported missing over Burma, was killed in action in the Asiatic area while in an army transport. He has been awarded the Purple Heart posthumously. Leaving the States early in December, Lt. Hochschild apparently had been in India only a few days before the flight over Burma. He received his army wings and commission as a lieutenant in May, 1943, and was stationed at Altus Field, Okla., before being sent overseas.

Pfc. Robert Edward Hanna, '38, winner of the Tribune award for outstanding merit and achievement in military training at E. T. H. S., was killed in action on Guadalcanal, Jan. 3, 1943. Pfc. Hanna had been stationed in Australia and New Caledonia for about one year before his transfer to Guadalcanal in December. He enlisted in March, 1941, and received preliminary training at Camp Forrest, Tenn., and Camp Croft, S. C.

Sgt. Joseph A. Carlson, '39, of the Marines, wears three bronze stars which signify that he has participated in three major engagements. He received the Presidential citation won by the first Marine Air wing for having downed the most enemy planes in the Pacific theater, with stars in recognition of Guadalcanal, Munda, and Bougainville. As a member of a Marine Air Corps ground crew in charge of ordnance and engines, it was Pvt. Carlson's duty to keep Corsair fighters flying.

Lt. John P. Schroeder, '38, bombardier in the Army Air Force, has been awarded the fifth oak leaf cluster to add to his previously won Air medal for his part in recent air attacks in the Gilbert Islands. Schroeder has been stationed in the Pacific for nearly a year and has seen action in many raids against Japanese positions.

Robert E. Beisang, who witnessed the first shot fired in the present war, was damage control officer of the famous U. S. S. Helena. The first shot fired in the present war was a torpedo sent into the side of the "Helena" in Pearl Harbor. Lt. Beisang's naval career has taken him through most of the major engagements of the Pacific. During the sinking of the "Helena", the crew boarded life rafts, and continued unprotected. The Jap destroyers, out for revenge, sent a barrage of heavy caliber shells at the rafts, which were later rescued by U. S. destroyers.

Pvt. Harold Sternquist has been awarded a Silver Star for "gallantry in action in Italy." Serving with a medical battalion, he also wears the African Campaign ribbon and the Army Good Conduct ribbon and will receive gold braid signifying his membership in the best combat team regiment in his division. During an attack by the Infantry Regiment, Pvt. Sternquist went forward with his ambulance to the advanced section of the battalion aid station. The only road available for ambulance evacuation was in full view of the enemy and under heavy artillery and mortar fire. Pvt. Sternquist loaded his ambulance with two casualties and proceeded to evacuate them despite the fact that enemy machine guns began spraying the road.

Petty Officer 2-c Walter DeVinck, '38, participated in six major naval engagements before the destroyer on which he was stationed was torpedoed under him. P. O. DeVinck saw action in the battles of Pearl Harbor, the Marshall and Gilbert Islands, Marcus, Wake, Midway, and the Solomons. During the attack on Pearl Harbor, the "Blue" was credited with downing six planes and one submarine. After the sinking of the "Blue", crew members were taken to a base in the New Hebrides and on to New Zealand and Australia, where Officer DeVinck was assigned to duty aboard a tanker. On April 19 he reported aboard a destroyer which was commissioned in a west coast port.

Thomas Kane, gunner's mate 2-c, veteran of six major naval engagements in the Pacific, has seen two great carriers, the "Wasp" and the "Hornet," go down and has witnessed the naval bombardment of Tarawa. Kane's six major engagements included the battle of Midway and the Solomons campaign. In addition to bronze and silver stars, he wears a decoration to indicate he took part in the first shooting action of this conflict, which was an encounter between American naval forces and Nazi submarines in the North Atlantic some months before war was declared.

Presentation of the Distinguished Flying Cross to Lieut. William C. Gilbert, '36, by Eddie Rickenbacker in India was the second honor to come to him in several months. Over a year ago, he received the Air medal from the hand of Gen. "Hap" Arnold, chief of the Army Air Forces, having completed more than one hundred hours of combat duty as bomber pilot and co-pilot. He has since been relieved of combat duty to avoid excessive strain, and has been made squadron communications officer. Gilbert entered the air forces in August, 1941. He went overseas in August, 1942, and was stationed in Syria before going to India in December.

Sgt. William Smiley, '40, a member of the Marine Corps amphibious forces, was wounded in the Battle of Tarawa, and has been awarded the Purple Heart. He has been in the service over two years and was stationed in the Solomons until the Marines moved northward to Tarawa.

Sgt. Philip Hansen, '39, ball turret gunner on a Flying Fortress, has been honored with stars and ribbons for major campaigns at Pearl Harbor, Midway, and the Solomons, an award for good conduct under fire, two inverted gold chevrons signifying more than one year's service within the combat zone, and a "hash mark" indicating a second enlistment as well as the silver wings of the army air forces. The three planes on which he flew have a record of downing thirty-eight Zeros. Sgt. Hansen, who enlisted in the army in May, 1939, three weeks before his graduation from Evanston Township High School, received his diploma in absentia, and was stationed at Hickham Field, Honolulu, when the Japanese attacked on December 7, 1941.

Staff Sgt. William LaBahn, a veteran of the Aleutian Islands is credited with downing five Jap Zeros during his two and one-half years of service in the North Pacific. Sgt. LaBahn holds an Air medal and has been recommended for the Silver Star. He bears a shrapnel wound, now apparently healed, over his left eye—the memento of a mission over Kiska. As aerial gunner on a Martin Marauder, he participated in twenty combat missions and three major engagements with the enemy over Kiska, Attu, and Paramishiru. After his return from the Aleutians he instructed new aerial gunners at Barkdale Field, La., and then was sent to an air force technical school in Denver.

Lt. Edward C. Kein, A.A.F. pilot, has been awarded two oak leaf clusters in lieu of additional Air medals. The first Cluster was awarded by Lt. Gen. Harmon, commander of the A.A.F. in the area on December 17, 1943, for Lt. Kein's missions performed between July 28 and August 15. When he went overseas in mid-June of last year, Kein was a pilot of a four-motored B-24 Liberator bomber.

Lt. Charles E. Place, '37, of the Army Air Corps has received the Air medal and the Purple Heart. Pilot of a Mustang medium fighter-bomber, he was wounded in an air battle which was a prelude to the invasion to Sicily. A shell fragment crushed his left elbow, and although he was bleeding profusely and could not apply a tourniquet he was able to maneuver his ship and keep it flying until he reached a base in Africa, where he made a safe landing. The Air medal was awarded him for the cool-headedness and courage he displayed in this action.

ALUMNI IN SERVICE

Day by day students of ETHS have watched the number on the service flag for Ward 4 grow larger. Eight times as many Evansdale graduates are already in the armed services as there were in the 1st war.

Because of the early publication date the list cannot be complete or entirely accurate. The Alumni Association, which is assembling the service record, requests that corrections and addition to the list be sent to the association in care of the school.
